

THE USE OF FASCIA LATA AS A BIOLOGICAL SEAL WITH IMPLANT

Samraa El Sheihk,* Maged H. Fahmy * and Amr Bayoumi*

ABSTRACT

This study demonstrates the use of dura mater as biological bandage to envelop the implant neck and has advantageous procedure which lead to significant improvement of seal around the implant and reduce pocketing to a level which allows patients access to oral hygiene.

The key to success lies not in the use of filling materials around the implants but in sealing the surgical site to help submerging the implant. This sealing is helped by the use of dura mater.